GREENSBORO COLLEGE
1838

1952
A cloak of rambling roses introducing
G. C. with her high ideals, lofty thoughts, opportunities and goals . . .
annual publication of the senior class

MR. E. L. WILLIAMS

Dedicated to one
Who by his wise counsel and his friendly hellos has shown his interest in each of us . . .
Who has demonstrated his unending effort to make G.C. a better school . . .
Who has so enthusiastically supported all campus activities . . .
A friend who has filled G.C. with song—
Mr. E. L. Williams
presenting the New greensboro college with shades of the old . . . new brick and stately columns with mellow walls and trailing ivy . . . plans for the future, yet traditions of yesterday . . . new friends, but fond memories of old ones . . . new knowledge and understanding, with the same helpful guidance . . . a hope in our hearts for a better G.C.

...A new G. C.

Yet an assurance that the opportunities, goals, joys, laughter, and spirit of understanding will keep this the same G.C.
... Hard to realize that our G. C.
days have run out...

only a few grains of the sands of time left...

Four years filled with sun and shadows, laughter and tears, work and play...
The little things
after all... the understanding smile, the bolstering friendship in times of trouble, the friendly advice... all cast against the remembered images
... the silhouette of Fitzgerald in the moonlight... the columns of Main in the sunlight... and the beautiful trees on the campus.
The small things are those we cherish and remember about our days at G.C. . . .
greeting old friends . . . pulling out our boots from the closet on rainy days . . .
climbing ladders to decorate for a dance . . .
making trips to the "infirm" . . . catching trolleys to Senior High . . . reading parallel . . .
"sweet" rendezvous with the current events map . . . planking down $2 for that make up test . . .
snacks between classes . . .
no Saturday classes for the scheming few . . .
senior comprehensives . . .
and last the 10:20 goodnights.

Remembering the first thrill of being called one of those "SENIORS". Thinking of the glorious months in Fitz . . . the burning of midnight oil over lesson plans . . . the thrills of practice teaching, and the giving of senior recitals. After three drags in the "den of iniquity," the smoker, dreamy chatter quickly drifts to the girls who have just received diamonds or pins, or even with a greater thrill to the seniors having already said "I do." The unforgettable horror . . . comprehensives. The feeling of dignity accompanying the caps and gowns.

Thus ends, on graduation day, the final year for the class of '52 . . . with smiles and tears for new adventures ahead and for friends and memories left behind.
What a pleasant way to die!

The third chapter in their college scrapbook nearly complete and filled with memories . . . JUNIORS! First of all was the thrill and pride of "Little Sisters" . . . loving and guiding them. Then that "big-time" feeling of going to their first Junior-Senior. Of course, new diamonds and frat pins brought joys to many. Finally, the puzzling question, "What in the world will be done with Senior responsibilities!"

SOPHOMORES! Upperclassmen! Just like another world — no more lights out, closed study or orientation — one night out a week — rushing and serenading the freshmen — the fun on Rat Day, with freshmen falteringly chanting "O shimmering, shining excelsior sunburst!"

New tasks to face — harder courses, choosing a major, the culture test — perhaps the hardest ordeal of all, the graduation of Big Sisters. But all too soon another school year comes to an end, with anticipations of the next — that of becoming Big Sisters.

Ding! Dong!

"Roomie, get up! That's the bell for breakfast! Roomie, do you hear me? Get up! It's 7:10!" ... "Ooooooh nooo!!"

Yes, it's the beginning of another day at G.C. ... After you've had that morning cup of coffee and finally opened that other eye, you start wondering if anyone has remembered you with even a little piece of mail! You rush to the P. O. at 7:58 either to dust out that box or get the surprise of the day ... mail!

Promptly at 8 o'clock you dash into class and, yes, you've guessed it ... a "pop" ... You know, the prof's way of finding out who has studied since the last class period.

After classes comes chapel. Chapel, the hour your stomach hugs your backbone while your mind wanders everywhere from "sleep" to "what else should I tell Bill?" Some few, however, do try to look attentive.

And then, Hallelujah, there's lunch with a little time left over to "black space"—rest, supposedly.
Day at "G.C."

But before you can catch your breath, it's time to go to class again. The musically inclined head for "Symphony Hall," alias Odell, to join in the "Confusion Symphony in A Flat." (Vocals by Miss "Whata Mixture.") For others, it's a lab or perhaps a shopping spree or a movie.

Dates?—Well, for those lucky enough to have beaux nearby! Of course, they have to allow a few minutes for properly endorsing those "In and Out" cards, dateslips, and date board!

The mad scamper for Mr. Jones' wonderful gift, the library, to do that ninety pages of parallel. If you aren't afraid of falling asleep, you may visit that beautiful browsing room downstairs!

At long last, it's time to start pinning up your hair . . . unless you're blessed with curly locks . . . and washing your face. "And so to bed" . . . After vespers, of course.

But no, somebody's having a last minute "gab-feast-fest" and here comes the housemother!

Finally, all's quiet and another day at G.C. has ended.

And so ends the madhouse year at G.C. for the FRESHMAN CLASS! It began with the terrified feeling upon arriving at G.C. Then reeled in rush week with the colorful Mexican patio of the Irvings and the farm house scenery (chickens, etc.) of the Emersons . . . climaxed with the drama of Decision night—girls filing down north or south stairs, falling into arms of laughing, tearful Emersons and Irvings with the resultant Irving victory.

Then the wheels slow to the steady grind of the first long six weeks, ending suddenly with the pranks of “Rat Day”—with its upside down skirts and the grim devil’s court. Then on the brighter side . . . the first experience of going stag to the Freshman-Sophomore dance. Fun takes place of learning during Christmas vacation. Second semester passes like a dream and before you know it comes summer vacation!

"Let's come to order," drawled Mac as the regular Monday meeting of the G.C. STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION lazily gained a semblance of an efficient governing body.

Quickly and with fairness in mind these weighers of justice at G.C. go about their various duties of giving needed call-downs, campuses, and restrictions, checking in-and-out cards, and church books. A hard job they hold, but these girls have set up standards and regulations that keep Greensboro College in tip-top condition . . . their work deserves a grateful thanks from all.
The "Y"? That's not hard to answer. Our Y.W.C.A. is those girls carrying suitcases that first day of school. It's the Wednesday nights in the Hut filled with "entertainment plus." It's the sounds of a hymn from East Parlor on Sunday morning, the quiet of vespers on Sunday night. It's the inspiration of Religious Emphasis Week. It's a square dance in the Hut, or the Christmas party for "our" kids, or the student body picnic in the spring.

The "Y"? It's a hard working cabinet headed up by Lib Callis with capable advisers. Yet above all else, the "Y" is every girl at G.C.
The Class of '52 has seven students recognized in WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. They were selected because of high scholastic standing, character and moral standing, co-operation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to G.C., and promise of future leadership.

Seated: Jenkins, Huffman.
Standing: Callis, Inge, Kenerly, Chapman, Goforth.

"Jesx"—talented, intellectual, president of the Senior Honor Society.
"Thurt"—versatile, dynamic, cheery personality, vice president of Student Body.
"Lini"—capable, inspiring, earnest and hard-working "Y" president.
"Macl"—progressive, competent Student Government president.
"Anns"—diligent, keen mind, enthusiastic president of the Religious Education Club.
"Luta"—sincere, friendly, conscientious president of the Glee Club.
"Jovs"—industrious, quiet, serious student, friend to all.
"I know I failed," laments the HONOR SOCIETY member . . . and makes an A+. The honor students often worry and fret, but always come out on top.

They study. They work. They play. They participate in many activities. Still they lead their classes scholastically.

One group that always pulls its load at G.C. is the DAY STUDENTS ASSOCIATION. The members are always to the fore in campus activities, carrying out their well-filled schedule—a tea for the new students, a Christmas party, and a dance. Spring finds the Day Hops having a banquet at the Bliss and going on a hay ride. They add a distinctly foreign color to the campus and yet they really belong!

The diplomats of the doors . . . SENIOR MARSHALS . . .

Attired in flowing white evening dresses with green-and-white satin ribbons . . . gracious and courteous always . . . on hand at recitals, plays, May Day, Homecoming, graduation exercises . . . and cheerfully seeing to it that each guest and student is provided with a program and a good seat.

"Don't you know you shouldn't come to the bookstore in your pajamas?"

"No. It's not in the Handbook!"

"That's right! But the SOCIAL STANDARDS COMMITTEE says 'No can do!'"

"By the way, did you know that the Social Standards Committee has placed the Red Barn on the list of places where we can dine and dance?"

"Really? That's wonderful!"

Yes, this group of young ladies helps to uphold G.C.'s well known distinction.

“What’s wrong with those FRESHMAN COUNSELORS?”

“Nothing is wrong with those Freshman Counselors—they're really on the ball,” comments two little freshies. And so they are! Amid laughter and fun, the counselors help to make the frosh feel well informed and self-assured.
"I'll never get used to wearing those all the time," said Jane of the FUTURE TEACHERS.

"Well, I'll never get used to having those high school seniors say 'yes, ma'am' to me!"

"You know what happened today? . . . One of my fifth graders came up to me after class and asked me if I would play 'Come On' a My House' on the uke Wednesday!"

"If I don't get started, I'll never finish my lesson plans by tomorrow!"

A typical conversation. But all in all, it is fun and rewarding to know that you may have had a part in helping a child learn his ABC's or even in developing his personality.

Pianists, organists, violinists, and vocalists all contribute their time and talents to the G.C. MUSIC CLUB. Sponsored by Dean Nelson, Mr. Hansen, and Mr. Wold, this group presents many musical programs and sponsors activities of special interest to music students. The keynote is service, the rhythm is a steady beat of practice, and the purpose is an achievement of harmony on our campus and in the future lives of its members.
"Bon soir, mes amies. Comment allez-vous?"
"Tres bien, merci, madame."

In other words, another meeting of the FRENCH CLUB opens at G.C. It carries on with movies, slides, and speakers that add to the students' knowledge of French folkways and customs ... parties in the hut, French games and songs, etc.—all catch something of the real spirit and charm of France.

Caramba! Hablable vd. espanol?
Si, senorita, si!

From where could such talk hail except from the excited girls who are having much fun in the SPANISH CLUB? And that's no joke!

They play Spanish games and dances, study Spanish countries and customs, have a wonderful time at the Christmas party (especially with the piñata) and even see movies in Spanish (trying to guess what is going on). These are really active gals; and with Dr. Heironimus and Dr. Dunstan to lead the way, they learn that studying Spanish isn't too bad after all.

"Machen Sie schnell!"
"Wo brennt's?"

In other words, "Haste to the wedding"... the GERMAN CLUB meeting. Folk tales, songs, vocabulary games, skits, German plays... and what have you. Anything to catch the spirit and culture of our good friends, the Germans. And at last all is climaxed with fun and refreshments.

"Auf Wiedersehen!"

"Are you going with the MATH CLUB to the planetarium in Chapel Hill today?"

"No, but I wish I could! They always seem to have a wonderful time."

The annual trip to the planetarium is only one of the varied activities creating interest in the Math Club. Besides presenting a technicolor movie for the entire student body, the Math Club has businessmen to discuss the opportunities open in the business world to girls trained in mathematics and some of the related subjects, physics, and chemistry. Other type programs promote fun and fellowship among the members.

"Clang! Clang!" goes the gong.

"This is it!" sing the FIRE WARDENS. "Girls, close your windows and doors! You know, I can't leave till you are all out of here, and I'd like to get out too!"

A typical scene and harangue at a G.C. fire drill.

The fact that the RELIGIOUS EDUCATION CLUB is the largest on campus is proof that it represents the Christian spirit here at Greensboro College. For years this club has done a great job in stirring up thought and serving the spiritual need of its many members. Under the guidance of "Ag" the club this year has brought in many interesting speakers to inform girls of worthwhile movements of youth around the world, such as caravanning, work camps, church conferences, and other student service organizations.

"IRC?"
"Of course G.C. has an INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB!"
"Outstanding?"
"With Dr. Marvin Skaggs directing it? . . . Definitely!"
"Objectives?"
"Why, the IRC promotes interest in world affairs, world peace, and international organizations and tries to make these a vital concern to every G.C. girl. It also promotes and emphasizes World Federalism and United Nations Week."
"How?"
"By presenting excellent programs to keep the girls informed, such as debates with Guilford College, a mock session of the UN, talks by visiting speakers, and reports on current affairs and famous personalities!"

Queens of the campus those gals of the Home Economics Club! Why? With three completely new kitchens as a classroom and a new Home Management house in Hudson! How could you? These girls have really got the materials and they use them.

What do they plan for this year?

Among other things, the girls will sell U.N. cook books, hold a silver tea, have guest speakers to discuss topics relating to Home Economics, and finally (this the Seniors like) initiate the privileged Senior gals into the National Home Economics Association. Under the guidance of Miss Tickle, the girls truly go forward in preparing for the homes of the future.

Stand backstage with me for awhile. We'll see the G.C. PLAYERS in action. Listen!

"Everybody on stage. House lights down. Curtain!"

Sounds simple, doesn’t it? But think back a minute. It was a month ago you pecked into the auditorium and saw those girls hard at work on their lines. And when was it you bumped into that paint spattered stage hand headed for the scenery lab? Come to think of it, that girl down the hall has been working on lights every after noon for days.

No, the life of a player isn’t simple. Just ask girls like Suzanne Elliott or Joy Little. It calls for patience, cooperation, and hard work.

For their fine spirit as well as their fine productions—here’s a curtain call for the G.C. Players.

Players: S. Perkins, Business Manager; Harmon, Jenkins, Secretary; McClure, Elliott, President; Miss Brewer, Moorman, Daniel, Schumann, Bradshaw, Stallings, Mrs. Perkins, Little, Publicity Chairman.
“What is that handsome lackadaisical lass carrying in her hand?”

“Why that’s a palette and sketch book.”

In reality these art geniuses are doing an enviable job of poster-making, oil paintings, and sculpturing.

The ART CLUB itself is full of interesting projects, speakers, films, and trips to exhibits. In the best sense of the word, these girls add a great deal to G.C. culture.

“Those girls in pedal pushers carrying butterfly nets . . . Are they ‘buggy’?”

“Yes and no. They’re star members of the CENOZOIC CLUB!”

Membership in this club is a mark of distinction, requiring scholarship and “brains.” They are the luckiest ones with their carefree outdoor life . . . hunting down specimens. And they add to this, with their formal meetings, outstanding speakers and visits to various scientific exhibits.
“What? Hoop skirts and bustles?”

“Yes. G. C. DAUGHTERS at dances, still trot right along in the footsteps of Ma and Grandma.”

The aim of the club is to uphold the standards and traditions that have made G.C. a distinctive Alma Mater.

The UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS believe “that peace is not merely the absence of war, but the presence of justice, of law and order…” Although one of the youngest organizations on our campus, the World Federalists is among the most active. A U.N. week in the fall and a World Government Week in the spring were highlights of the year for this chapter of the U.W.F.
"Moved again this year!"
"Uh-huh" (nods cheerfully).
"Oh, no! Not again!"
"Yeah. Again."

And so we get a glimpse of those girls who really get around...

... the PREACHERS’ KIDS.

While they’re at G.C., they keep pretty active too. This year they’re keeping their meetings strictly social... having wiener roasts, spaghetti suppers, etc. ... Who said it isn’t nice to be a “P. K.”?

“Hi, Mary! Didn’t know you belonged to the U.D.C.”

“Yes, folks, true southern blood since the days of the Confederacy!”

And so... the latest version of the Daughters of Confederacy gets under way at G.C. Meeting opens with a loyalty ritual to the United States flag and the Confederate flag. Then follow visits to homes and museums with Confederate background and a joint meeting with the Greensboro Chapter of the U.D.C. and so on, with activities designed to keep alive the spirit of the South.

U.N. Week Discussed on G.C. Radio Program on Oct. 25

I. R. C. Commemorates U. N. Day
In Chapel Program October 23

Displays Add to G. C.'s Observance of U. N. Week

"The United Nations Organization is striving toward one order—the reign of peaceful procedures and laws," Dr. K. C. Fraser, professor of International Relations of the University of North Carolina, told Greensboro College students Tuesday, October 23. In connection with G. C.'s observance of United Nations Week, Dr. Fraser was the speaker in the chapel exercises in Odell Memorial Auditorium and was sponsored by the International Relations Club.

The United States is in a particularly critical phase, because it is the most important country in the world from the standpoint of influence in any given situation, the speaker stated.

"The United Nations prevent any country, on the basis of nationalism, from saying it can do anything," Dr. Fraser said.

Carolyn Gillespie, president of the International Relations Club, presided at the chapel program, and Dr. M. L. Skagg introduced the speaker.

The United Nations flag made the year by members of the Home Economics Club, was tacked to the curtain behind the speakers. Laid on the front of the stage were flags of each of the member nations. Elizabeth Ann Hodge arranged this display.

U. N. Displays

In order to emphasize the importance of U. N. Week, the International Relations Club has placed displays in the library and in Main Building.

G. C. students, who are teaching in the public schools, are calling attention to intercultural work and organizing this special view.
“Tomorrow’s the deadline for Echo articles!” “No good; try again.” “More punch in those lines!” “Where to make the next picture?”

These familiar remarks last fall were followed by the staff wiener roast behind the hut . . . selection of individual pictures from Taylor-Staley’s work . . . re-writes after conferences with Dr. Carpenter . . . curiosity about layouts and Linda’s secrets . . . more visits by Mr. Martin . . . hints from Mr. Coursey and Mr. Keck . . . proofreading . . . and finally the dedication of the 1952 Echo.

Swish!

“What was that? A bird? A plane?”

“No, it’s a gal on the Echo Business Staff.”

“And where is she going in such a hurry?”

“Why, to get those ads, of course!”

The girls on this staff are really on the ball. They tramp, tramp, tramp, from morn till night, but they’ve always got a cheerful smile . . . to get the ads! The result . . . they do get the ads, we get the annuals, and everybody’s happy!

The COLLEGIAN

"Those articles just barely made the deadline . . . that feature just had to be cut . . . the trip to the printers seemed like miles." Sounds as if someone from the COLLEGIAN LITERARY STAFF is thinking out loud.

Then comes Friday night, after dinner, parlor crowded, everyone talking. Why? The Collegian's out—what else? And, as always, it's a top-notch paper.

Have you got zip? Patience? A cheerful smile? And—no flat feet? Then the COLLEGIAN BUSINESS STAFF wants you. The gals on this staff really keep the ball arollin' round G.C. They make it possible for us to keep up on the news every two weeks . . . for what would a paper be without ads? Our hats off to these gals!
"Are you sure that we can date only on Saturday and Sunday nights until we are sophomores?"

"No, I'm not positive, but I know where we can find out. Let's look in the HANDBOOK!"

That chat is characteristic of the freshmen before they begin studying the Handbook in earnest. Although rules, regulations, a calendar of events, and lists of the officers of the major organizations on campus make the Handbook important to all the G.C. girls, it's indispensable to freshmen.

Left to right: Miss Ginn, Nancy Wike, Secretary; Joan Godolph, Treasurer; Catherine Coble, Vice President; Patricia Tucker, President.

Who are the PRESS CLUB girls? You have seen them racing frantically to every meeting with notebook and pencil in hand... then a last minute rush for Miss Ginn's approval... a dash up to Fitz or across the hall for a typewriter... pounding the pavement toward town... and finally G.C. is before the eyes of the public.
'No school spirit?' queried the ATHLETIC BOARD. "Here at G.C! You must have the wrong college . . . you're bound to. Take a look at the tournaments, picnics, horse shows, swim meets, and general sports that go on up here!"

We agree. Those hard-working girls have something on the ball.

Mighty Casey has struck out? Nope, not here . . . for these girls of the "C" Club hit the ball dead center and come up with a homer every time! No Casey-like bragging and boasting either . . . just a modestly-worn green and white "G.C."

Looking for Sue? Well, just try the tennis courts, volleyball field, or anywhere there's a tournament, and you'll find her. Bright, peppy, always taking the lead . . . that's Sue Cullifer, MISS G.C. of '52.
From out at Sedgefield come the thundering hoofbeats of many a great stallion . . . the BIT 'N SPUR rides again! Nowhere in the pages of athletic history of G.C. can one find greater champions of aching muscles. Return with us now to Sedgefield and another exciting horse show . . . the winners ride again!

Riding with perfect ease, seeing visions of beautiful blue ribbons, when—you guessed it—stars take the place of the blue ribbons! Oh well, it happens to the best of us.
Her first time around the circle, the feel of those reins in her hand, those people on the side-lines, her one last hurdle, the ribbons that might be hers . . . this is the HORSE SHOW to the girl who rides—to all of us.
Watch that ball, gal! And no fair stealing bases—can't have "thieving" in softball, you know!

Tra-la, tra-la, tra-la-la-la-la-la. Folk dancing is fun ... especially when we can show off our "skill" at those rip-roarin' square dances in the Hut!

Rah! Rah! Rah, rah, rah! ... Excited cheers, a bounce of the ball, and the game's begun! What game? Why, volleyball, of course! It's a campus favorite.

Ready! Aim! Fire! Watch that ball's eye! Even if you aren't a second William Tell, you'll have fun playing archery.

Oops! Look out for that stick! Watch that swing! Ah, success! There goes the ball! What's happening? Why, nothing less than a hockey game in the good old winter-time!

A smile, a racket, and a cry, "Watch that birdie," and the gals are off for a thrilling game of badminton! It's heaps of fun, and they love it.

...Sports
Powers' models? Nope! not at all. They're the real thing and are "on their toes" . . . the Modern Dance!

"How'd you like a game of tennis?" . . . "Love it. Be with you in a second." . . . In the winter or spring, sunny or cloudy, tennis is a favorite game at G.C. The sportsters go for it in a big way!

Ring it! Ring it! (We're not referring to the doorbell) . . . Such excited cries are heard as the G.C.-ites have a gala time playing basketball—it's mucho fun to them.

A flip, a splash, and a gurgle, and there you are, having a wonderful time! Nothing to it—just take a deep breath, breathe, and float along, living the life of Riley (that is, if you can float)!

Maybe they don't make par on a hole, maybe they haven't got a perfect grip and stance, but many G.C. amateurs agree—"Golf suits me to a tee!"

"Gid-dap! Yippee! Come on, Paint. Let's git where we ain't!" . . . Certainly, G.C. has real "cowgirls"! We get to see them really perform when they give us a show in the spring.
"Old EMERSONS we are proud that..." "Swing your partner and promenade" ... "step right up and see the greatest show on earth, the Emerson Circus."

Remember the favors, fun, and frolic of rush week? I can still hear those decision night screams of "My little sister went Emerson!"

Thus begins a new year with new Emerson Friendships!

Under a big Aloha sign from the Hawaiian snack bar, the IRVINGS greeted the freshmen with gala entertainment from hula dances to food. The open house scene changed to south of the border as the Irving society hall became a Mexican fiesta. To the lively music of Clyde Watson, brightly dressed señoritas tapped out the Mexican Hat Dance.

Decision night found, for the first time in five years, the Irwins victorious by a large majority. The bond of Irving friendship was strengthened as the bride, Libby Huggins (attended by Mary Schrempp, Laila Vittands and Ann Taylor, symbolic of new members), was married into the society.
Composed of Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Music Education majors and sponsored by Dr. Mayfield, the MUSIC EDUCATORS CLUB strives to make our campus more aware of the many musical opportunities around us. A student chapter of the Music Educators National Conference, this group sponsors outside speakers and performers, exchanges ideas with neighboring colleges, attends state and national conferences, and otherwise fosters the appreciation of music.

Take hours of practice and drill, occasional "skull practice," a constant striving for improvement, and add a group spirit that grows with each performance. The result? G.C.'s "football team" . . . the GLEE CLUB. Traveling by Greyhound bus, the "varsity" traverses many states while the "sub team" stays behind to cheer it on.

And what is the reward for the hours of work and sacrifice? The fun of tours, the friendships made, the honor of being one of Mr. Williams' "girlies," the thrill of interpreting a composer's work of art, and above all, the knowledge and satisfaction of a job well done.

Eight melodious voices blended into one happy group . . . the LITTLE SINGERS! With their director, Miss Singer, these girls perform many times during the year—for the college programs, radio programs, and for local and out-of-town organizations, each time leaving with their audience an enjoyable feeling of pleasure and relaxation.

Ever pass by Odell on Thursday evening and hear the strains of Beethoven's First Symphony? No, it is not the New York Philharmonic but G.C.'s own CHAMBER ORCHESTRA practicing. Directed by Mr. Hansen, this organization has grown from a handful of original members to a group of twenty-five, performing in concert and at various college functions throughout the year.
It was indeed a battle of wits when the merchant and the old Jew met in last year's Shakespearean production, "The Merchant of Venice." Portia and her maid delighted the audience with their clever tricks, as other characters helped to make the performance one to be remembered.

On Stage at G. C.

In "Everyman," G.C.'s first morality play, picturing man's struggles on earth, the characters succeeded in making the allegory live in our modern day.

The dancing hobos from the modern dance recital remind us of a night "on stage" that was exciting and unique.
Memorable moments at G. C. DANCES . . . starry-eyed G.C.-ites . . . billowing hoop skirts . . . the flash of the black and white tux . . . the poor face of the dining room, lifted and transformed into the shadowed intricacies of a massive ballroom, the initial exaltation of the Freshman-Sophomore Dance — their first triumph . . .

Following in swift succession, the Holiday Ball with the gleaming green-and-red tree in Main Parlor, surrounded by radiant faces . . .

The Junior Senior Dance in the Parlor, with the large mirror reflecting only happiness . . . the May Day Dance with spotlights on the May Day Queen, her attendants, and the Student Council members . . . Each dance embodying an exciting combination of "that special occasion, that special formal, and that special someone."

May Day . . . 1951

A second of silence, a breathless wait, then the glorious moment comes . . . the day is climaxed as the lovely queen is crowned—Queen of our May Day!

Round and round, in and out they go . . . gay Parisians, sober Indians, petite Japanese, all joined in winding the wonderful May pole in honor of their lovely queen.
Despite threatening rain clouds, gala panoramas of the world floated across the gaily bedecked campus. Variegated Scotch plaid flutters in the winds of the highland fling. Tom-tom beats of black savages . . . human sacrifices . . . prim Japanese maidens . . . Americans "squaring their sets" . . . war dance of the Indian braves . . . excited voices . . . lifting music. These many players danced to delight our radiant queen and her court. Mirth and merriment set the tempo for our May Day festivities.
September 1951 brought the parties, snack bars, serenades, and anxieties of rush week—a week which ended with an Irving victory.

And Play Day with shouts of "play ball" and the faculty again defeating the students in softball.

"We are the frosh of the lovely freshman class," sang the freshmen to those mighty sophomores one October day.

That rustle of excitement over the campus? A TV set was bought for the hut!
A shrill in the night, windows down, loafers, lights-out, pajamas peeping from under rain-coats . . . Yes, a G.C. fire drill at 11:30 P.M.

Campus political enthusiasts were excited one November day when Senator Robert A. Taft was the chapel speaker.

Founders and Benefactors Day, 1951, brought a time for remembrance of one who served G.C. loyally for twenty-seven years . . . The portrait of the late Mrs. W. R. Alley, former librarian, was unveiled.

A proud day for seniors was that day in March when little sisters presented caps and gowns.
A busy buzz in the rear of Odell Auditorium, an expectant silence, accompanied by the turning of many heads as a triumphant march booms forth from the organ. . . . then the tramp, tramp of black-robed graduates of 1952 moving solemnly to their seats.

Little is heard of the program as the girls, on the edge of a new life, pause to recall with tender emotion past experiences at G.C. . . . And they find themselves on the stage with the passport to the future clasped tightly in hand. The tears of parent and child mingle in anxiety, expectancy, and relief. Then the future claims a new crop of leaders as the class marches out for the last time toward the commencement of a new life.

GREENSBORO COLLEGE
Chartered 1838

The Pioneer of Higher Education for Women in North Carolina

ACREDITED by the North Carolina College Conference, the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the University Senate of the Methodist Church, and the National Association of Schools of Music. Member, also, of Southern Association of Colleges for Women, and Association of American Colleges.

PRACTICAL: While pursuing courses leading toward the A.B. or B.M. degree, students may secure prevocational training leading toward dietetics, nursing, laboratory technique, medicine, library science, social service, church work, home making, and so forth. Opportunity is afforded students to qualify for Class-A Teachers' Certificates in Primary, Grammar Grade, and High School fields.

"Greensboro College through a long period of years has rendered outstanding service to the educational needs of this State."—CLYDE A. ERWIN, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

PROGRESSIVE: Rich in traditions of over a century. Regular liberal arts curriculum adapted and enriched in line with modern world conditions.

DISTINCTIVE: Emphasizing not size but quality, Greensboro College is small enough for personal contacts and close friendships and large enough for variety and breadth of culture. Beautiful campus dotted with tall pines, stately oaks, and sturdy elms, with ivy-clad buildings modernized and homelike.

CHRISTIAN: Although not sectarian, Greensboro College rests frankly and firmly upon religious morals and moral and religious sanctions.

"I have heard of Greensboro College since my childhood. I have been acquainted with a large company of its alumnae. I have observed its work through many years. It maintains a noble Christian atmosphere and genuine scholastic standards."—BISHOP COSTEN J. HARRELL.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SENIORS
A great store for a great and growing community.

Sosnik-Thalhimers is your headquarters in North Carolina for today's finest fashions!

You sense the newness, the excitement of fashion the minute you see the facade of Sosnik-Thalhimers. Here is one of the loveliest stores in America . . . inviting, gracious, designed for shopping comfort and convenience. And it belongs to YOU!

It's yours because Sosnik-Thalhimers belongs to everyone who seeks the smart, the discriminating, whether you budget your purchases on a college girl's allowance or spend as you please. Great fashion and flawless good taste may be as modest as a pert pique collar or as fabulous as a mink coat. It is the love of fashion in your heart, the instinct for good design that make Sosnik-Thalhimers your store. Come, to browse or to shop whenever you're in Winston-Salem. And when you're in Richmond, Virginia, come to Thalhimers, our "big sister" store.
Both are at your service . . . your headquarters for fashion.
